GEN. HAIG GIVES HIS HORSE TO PRIVATE

London.-During the British retreat before the German drive on the Somme a British private, footsore and weary, struggled along a shell-torn road to-ward the rear. His force of will was all that kept him from falling. For several days he had been marching, snatching a few hours of sleep when the opportunity presented. Sir Douglas Haig, commander of the strong opening of today's stock market. British forces in France, rode past and chanced to notice the tired soldier. Without a moment's hesitation, Gen. Haig dismounted, insisted on the private taking his horse and strode on

NOTED AMERICAN AVIATOR IS KILLED

Maj. Raoul Lufberry, Accredited With Eighteen German Planes, Himself a Victim.

KILLED BY BIG TRIPLANE.

(Associated Pres With the American Army in France, Sunday, May 19.—Maj. Raoul Lufbery, who had been regarded as the best aviator in the American air service, was shot down in flames and killed this morning by a big German triplane which he was attacking. Lufbery jumped from his flaming plane when 800 yards above the ground. He had seventeen victories to his credit.

(International News Service.) With the American Army in France May 19 (Delayed.)-Maj. Raoul Lufberry, of Wallingford, Conn., who was credited with having brought down eighteen German airplanes, was killed this morning.

Lufberry fought with the LaFayette escadrille of the French army and dis-tinguished himself in innumerable sky combats. Last December Lufberry, William Thaw and twenty-two other Americans who had been fighting with the LaFayette escadrille, were commissioned as majors in the aviation reserve of the United States army in France upon the recommendation of Gen. Pershing.

Lufberry joined the French army early in the outbreak of the war and shortly after he got into the air service it became evident that he would distinguish himself as one of the "aces." In October, 1917, Lufberry along with several others of the La-Fayette escadrille, were cited in French army orders for bravery. Just a month previous Lufberry had been cited in the official journal of the French army "incomparable pilot,"

Although young, Lufberry had beer quite a traveler and had seen all of the out-of-way places of the world. He was in Asia when the war broke out Lufberry's father was a Frenchman, but his mother was an American,

PLANS TO PUT END TO HURTUFL COMPETITION

(International News Service.) Washington, May 30.—The establish ment of an absolute priority rule to apply to every kind of labor required by the productive sources of the gov-ernment was announced today by Felix Frankfurter, chairman of the new-ly created policies board of the de-partment of labor, and Assistant to Secretary Wilson as the labor admin-

Mr. Frankfurter has designed a pro-gram affecting the distribution of la-bor which will put an end to the hurtful competition which government con tractors have been carrying on, and hereafter the labor needs of every shipyard, contractor, factory or farm will be placed before the labor administration and its case will be heard be-fore the representatives of all produc-tive departments before workmen are shifted or allotted as requested. As xplained by Mr. Frankfurter, the plan will have even a more stabilizing influence on the labor market, and under the plan to be developed in detail workmen will derive every benefit as to housing, living conditions and wage

The labor administration will formed into a cabinet, of which Mr. Frankfurter will be chairman. They will hold frequent meetings, and the members will represent the departments of war, navy and agriculture, the railroad administration, shipping board, war industries board, aircraft board and the Council of National Defense. Contractors doing government fense. Contractors doing government work will not be permitted to bid for labor against the shipping board or the railroad administration; each separate branch of the government and every factory included must come to the labor administration when it wants workmen. "We must all get in the boat and pull the oars together for the one goal." Mr. Frankfurter said.

The distribution of the country's labor supply will be in charge of the United States employment service, according to Mr. Frankfurter. On that federal agency, which has extended its arms to every state and city of the country, will be placed the responsibility of mobilizing and classifying the various trades and their trained work. men. The labor administration has put this in charge of John B. Densmore, director-general of the service, and the appeals for labor, after being passed on by the policies board, will then be referred to the federal employment service for actual enrollment and distribution to the departments or factories requiring the workmen.

There will be no duplication of the efforts of labor agencies, and the work of state, government and private labor agencies, all pulling against each property will be elimigether, and when adopted will be the result of the experience and recom-mendations of the men who have been trying to link up just such a practical the unprecedented speeding up of the industries with the sudden upheaval of the old labor conditions.

ery on June and July sales. Opening owing to improving crop prospects and prices, which ranged from 1/4c lower to 1/4c advance, with May $1.27% and July consumption reported last week. Before the end of the first half-hour July sold off to 24.53c and October to 23.55c, making net declines of 41 to 53 points. Business was not active, and aside from covering there were very few buyers.

The break extended to 24.45c for July and 23.54c for October after publication of the favorable weather forecasts, with active months generally selling 49 to 56 points net lower. There was some southern selling as well as pressure from local and western sources on this decline, which carried new-crop months well under the lowest level touched on the early-month break, but the market steadled later on covering and showed rallies of 20 or 24 points around midday.

Trading was very quiet during the early afternoon, with prices holding steady around 24.68c for July and 23.73c for October, or about 19 to 23 points there were very few buyers.
